From the Pastor

Sabbatical – May We Rest

The word Sabbatical comes from the root of Sabbath. In Genesis, we are commanded to take a day of the week off from work. Not many of us do this, in this era of always being “on” and available, just a click away. The idea is that we all need a reset from time to time. In agriculture, good farmers will rotate crops after several years. The land needs to get different nutrients in its soil for long-term sustainability.

The book of Leviticus even says that every seven times seven years, there would be a societal reset. Land would be returned to its ancestral owners, all debts forgiven and all slaves would be set free. There is no evidence that this was ever really implemented, but it sure is a good idea. That “forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors” part of the lord’s prayer is a shout-out to that ancient idea that we need to not hoard wealth, or rage, or even ideas of superiority.

How would our world look if we had such a reset? I like to imagine such things.

UBC has a generous policy that the pastor gets twelve weeks of sabbatical after every five years of service. My last Sabbatical was in 2016. It just didn’t seem right to take a Sabbatical in the height of a pandemic. While the Sabbatical begins on June 24 and ends on September 16, I’ll be gone from Minnesota starting on the 6th of June. I’m going to play with the bell choir in Scandinavia.

While I’m away the incredibly gifted Rev. Matty Strickler will be our interim pastor. Matty will be working half-time, so don’t expect Matty to do everything that I did. In fact, this is a great opportunity for the church to take some rest from me. Matty may well show us some dormant side of ourselves. The church may stretch some of its muscles and see things with perhaps clearer eyes.

I have every confidence that Matty will be a wise, compassionate and effective leader for these three-plus months.

As far as my itinerary goes, Kim and I will be staying across the pond after the bell choir leaves. We'll be in Scotland, where I will take a 45-mile hike in the Highlands over four days. We'll also take an eight-day bike and barge tour from Bruges, Belgium to Amsterdam where we will visit our niece who is in graduate school there. After returning to the US, I plan to spend a month hiking a New England portion of the Appalachian Trail. I've hiked sections of this trail over the years and figured if I wanted to hike more of it, I should do it while my body is still somewhat functional. My first pastoral event upon my return will be to perform Katie Hartman and Jim Waller's wedding on Sept 17. I plan to preach at UBC on Sunday, Sept. 18.

What reset do you need? What will our renewed eyes and ears see? What will our renewed hearts feel?

Blessings on the Journey, friends.

MAY AND JUNE SPECIAL OFFERING

UBC's mission offering for the months of May and June will be to support organizations which advocate for and support our LGBTQ+ community. There are groups which provide a voice at the Capitol, free HIV testing and counseling for youth/young adults, and support for the LGBTQ+ community who are victims of violence.

We would like to help these organizations with our special gifts especially as this is Pride Month. Thank you for your support!

From the President

How Can You Help?

For a small community, UBC enjoys an abundance of riches. We have come through 2+ years of COVID with strong groups focused on anti-racism, Bible study, memoir-writing, learning Spanish, reading literature written by women, knitting, choral singing, and handbell ringing. We have embarked on a five-year project to actively confront structures of racism in the Church. We have improved technology in the sanctuary to permit livestreamed worship service and gatherings that may be attended in person or via Zoom.

We have continued to feed our neighbors through Meals on Wheels, Every Meal, Loaves and Fishes, and the Little Free Pantry. We have sheltered and cared for refugees and other immigrants. We have provided space and support for an alternative school, AA groups, unhoused neighbors, other worship communities, an LGBTQIA+ band, and shape note singers. We have built a rain garden to divert water into the ground to be cleaned rather than into the storm sewers to carry contamination to the Mississippi River.

Those are just some of the “formal” activities and initiatives that have enlivened and enriched UBC over recent years. Informally, we have also supported each other through isolation, loss, birth, illness, fear, and financial struggles.

We have a lot to celebrate as we head toward UBC’s Annual Meeting on June 5. We also have two essential needs that I want to call to your attention. First, we need someone to step into the president role when my two-year term ends as of July 1. I am offering to continue as co-president in the hope that someone might find it easier to step up with the support of a teammate.

Second, we need a treasurer to handle the spending side of UBC’s finances in tandem with the financial secretary’s work tracking the revenue side. UBC has been fortunate to have many years of financial guidance provided by a small number of very dedicated volunteers. It is now time for someone else to pick up the mantle. To make that an easier lift, I am working on lining up a volunteer or low-fee bookkeeper.

How can you help? Please consider carefully the possibility of filling the president, co-president, or treasurer role. Let me know if you have questions or might be able to help. Please also let me know if you have interest in or leads toward filling the bookkeeper role. Thank you for all your contributions to the UBC community, whether through prayer, service, engagement, or financial support.

Farewell concert for UBC Bells - FINALLY!!

We've been rehearsing hard, had two outside concerts and trial runs of packing, unpacking and setting up the bell equipment (then taking it down again!). And now, after two years of cancellations, we are finally headed for Scandinavia (Norway, Sweden, and Denmark) on our 6th concert tour! We would love to have you in our audience for our Farewell Concert on Sunday, June 5, 3 pm CT at UBC. After the concert, we will pack up and get ready for our flight out the next day.

If you are unable to attend in person, we hope you are able to join us via livestreaming. Here is the link: <https://youtu.be/TnfPXtyavgE>

The Carillon Choir thanks you all for your support and love. If you would like to support their tour costs you have options:

- We have definitely moved into the 21st century! We now have a QR code to link to UBC's website for online donations! (See above)
- Write a check to UBC with Carillon Choir Tour in the memo line.
- Go to UBC's online donation page www.ubcmn.org/giving and click "Give" under the Bell Choir Scandinavia Tour box.

We hope you are able to join us for the concert - in person or virtually, and we will look forward to seeing you and sharing our many stories from the tour after our return.

Amanda Donley graduated in December from the University of North Dakota with her Master's in Forensic Psychology. She lives in River Falls, WI and is the sexual assault services coordinator at Turningpoint. She provides counseling services, legal and medical advocacy, and emergency shelter to survivors of domestic and sexual violence. She is also an expert witness for the state of Wisconsin and is qualified to provide testimony for criminal sexual assault cases.

Deidre Druk retires this month after teaching music for 25 years, most recently at Battle Creek Middle School. She looks forward to traveling, drinking morning coffee in the sunlight of her windows, enjoying breakfast, lunch and dinners with friends, reading books she has purchased over the years, working on her music, being creative and participating in "good trouble" where needed.

Lomax were married on May 28 in Eagle Bend, MN, officiated by Pastor Doug Donley. Rebecca's parents are Steve and Mindy Lee.

Karen Swensen graduated on May 1 from United Theological Seminary of the Twin Cities with a Master of Divinity degree. Her first priority will be to try to get back into the ordination process, and she will be looking for a job as a pastor or chaplain.

On May 30th, Doug and Kim Donley joined Beth and Sharon Wilson and their families in Alcestor, South Dakota where our dear Vicki Wilson's ashes were interred alongside her husband Harold.

Megan Gunnar Dahlberg honored

From the “spit lab” to the National Academy of Science

Last month UBC member Megan Gunnar Dahlberg was elected to the National Academy of Sciences (NAS), one of the nation's highest honors given to scientists. Election to the NAS recognizes distinguished and continuing achievements in original research. She is one of three U of M researchers and 120 nationwide elected to the NAS this year.

She could barely contain herself on May 3 when she got the news.

“This is a really big deal!” Megan said excitedly on a call to a friend at UBC.

Megan is a Regents Professor at the U’s top-ranked Institute of Child Development. She is one of the world’s leading authorities on understanding how social experiences in early life shape brain and behavioral development. By documenting the neurobiology of stress, she has brought about a paradigm shift in the way researchers think about the effects of early life experience and vulnerability of young children to harsh conditions and neglect.

The core of her research examines how the mind regulates the physiology of stress and how that physiology (cortisol and adrenaline) in turn impact the developing brain and body. She is known as the “spit lady” because she measures stress hormones in saliva.

When Megan started her work in the late 1970s, animal research had made a strong case that stress early in life had an impact on stress hormones, which in turn impacted brain development and behavior. But there were then only two studies of stress hormones in children because, at the time, the only way to measure the key stress hormone cortisol was by collecting blood or urine samples, which is difficult or impossible in children. The technology to test saliva was just breaking, and she recognized the potential. She developed the procedures to reliably collect saliva from infants and young children and uncovered the story of the development of stress reactivity and regulation in human development.

Critically, Megan has shown that relationships are the most powerful and important “stress regulators” in a child’s life. Secure and supportive relationships buffer stress, allowing children to produce low levels of stress hormones even when they are upset and frightened. When the relationship system is broken (think maltreatment or growing up in an orphanage), the stress system becomes dysregulated, increasing the risk of physical and mental health disorders.

Her career has been supported with major grants and awards. It has brought her to the White House and beyond for teaching, research, and public policy. For over 20 years she has worked to translate the science of child development for use by policy makers through serving on Harvard’s National Scientific Council on the Development Child. She serves on the Advisory Council to the Governor’s Children’s Cabinet, and on the boards of several local nonprofits working to improve early childhood education quality and access and to reduce child abuse. She actively works for political candidates who will vote for policies supporting children and families.

On May 3, Megan was meeting with her grad students when a call came in. It was a friend and prestigious U of M alum of the Institute of Child Development on the line. When she asked to call him back because of her lab meeting, he suggested she put her grad students on the call, too. As a member of the NAS himself, he was delivering the news. That day she shared the thrill with her students. Formal induction to the NAS will take place next spring at its annual meeting.

Megan joined UBC not long after she came to the University of Minnesota as an assistant professor in 1979 and immediately volunteered to drive for Meals on Wheels. She has been a Sunday school teacher and coordinator, a committee and foundation board member, a worship leader and member of the choir. She is married to U physics professor Dan Dahlberg, and many of us remember her sons Cliff and Pete, who attended UBC as they grew up.

And the tree came down...

On May 23 the big old basswood tree that has graced our corner of 13th and University for more than 40 years came down (succumbing to rot and age). The tree people said it was a strong wind away from disaster. We had a nice farewell to it after church on May 22. Photos by Jim Ross

Volunteers Needed for Pride Booth

The 50th Annual Twin Cities Pride Festival will be held at Loring Park on June 25-26, and will feature local BIPOC and LGBTQ+ vendors, food courts, beer garden and music stages. As we have done in the past, UBC is partnering with Judson Baptist Church to host a booth at the festival. Hours will be 10 am to 6 pm both Saturday (June 25) and Sunday (June 26) at Loring Park in Minneapolis.

We are currently seeking volunteers who are interested in sitting at the booth to answer any questions people may have about UBC and the services we provide. This is a great opportunity to share our church with others in a way that is social, fun, and engaging.

If you would like to volunteer, please contact John Medeiros at johnthomasmedeiros@gmail.com and let him know your preference of day(s) and time(s).

Other Volunteer Opportunities

Refugee Resettlement

Alight (formerly the American Refugee Committee) has received funding to place Afghan and Ukrainian families in the Twin Cities and Trish Donley is spearheading the UBC volunteer effort toward that endeavor, which will involve arranging items that are brought to homes by others (i.e., staging the home for families, setting up kitchens, assembling/arranging furniture, making beds, etc.).

If you would like to help, volunteers can sign up at volunteer@wearealight.org. If you have any questions, please contact either Teresa Janicke Devick (with Alight) at trjdevick@yahoo.com, or Trish Donley at patricia.donley63@gmail.com. COVID vaccines, background checks and masks are required.

Every Meal

UBC participates in Every Meal, a program that distributes meals over weekends and school breaks for families of children who receive free and reduced meals when school is in session. UBC is scheduled to distribute at Marcy Open School on the first Friday of each month from 9:45 am to about noon. If you would like to volunteer, please contact Denise Roy at denise.roy@mitchellhamline.edu.

Meals on Wheels

UBC has an opportunity to participate in Meals on Wheel on the first full week of the month (June 6-9). We have four drivers currently and would love to add one or more to rotate in. Meals are picked up around 11:15 am and the route usually takes 1-2 hours. If you have any questions, please contact Marie LaFrance at marielafrance46@gmail.com.

Little Free Pantry

We are looking for individuals who might be willing to stop by the church at least once a week to stock the pantry, as well as your donations of money and/or items such as

- Toiletries (toothbrushes, deodorant, sample sized shampoo/body wash/hand sanitizer, razors, feminine hygiene products)
- Boxed mixes that only require water to prepare
- Bars/cracker packs
- Ramen/instant soup in a cup
- Rice/pasta/quinoa
- Canned items with pop tops
- Boxed mac & cheese
- Tuna packets

If you would like to help, please contact Trish Donley, our Little Free Pantry coordinator, at patricia.donley63@gmail.com or put money in the offering plate designated for the Little Free Pantry.

What is one thing you will do?

(as gathered from attendees at the May 29 service when prompted to write down one thing they would do to address violence.)

- Smile and look into strangers' eyes while passing.
- Widen my neighborhood and get to know more people. Talk.
- Hound my congresspeople and senators.
- Above all – do not demonize those who disagree – they may be right!
- Write letters to congresspeople, as empty as that may be.
- Pray.
- Support George Floyd Square.
- Compromise.
- Love.
- Listen.
- I will show up every day.
- I will try to understand those who disagree with me.
- Raise awareness.
- Be a member of the George Floyd Square community.
- Don't settle for easy answers and work for peace.
- Work for policies to reduce gun violence.
- I will volunteer at a neighborhood school and just love them.
- Connection to Phoebe.
- We are more forgiving with other people's misbehaviors...especially in the road, at work, in the neighborhood.
- Seek out others who differ in their thinking and pursue a dialogue with them.

FINANCIAL SECRETARY'S REPORT

UBC's projected operating income for 2021-22 is a little more than $345,000. This includes the final adjusted amount of $25,355 carry-forward from 2020-21 and the Foundation distribution of $54,739.

As we head into the final month of the fiscal year, operating income continues to be strong. Pledges, special and miscellaneous gifts and rents total $266,246, which is $37,079 more than the pro-rata expectation.

Most of our income (55%) comes from the pledges made by members. Pledges have rebounded since last report with some folks paying their pledges in full (and one pledge for next year was pre-paid) as well as one payment was recategorized as part of a pledge instead of a special gift. (So, the pledge surplus is not really a surplus if we move that prepaid pledge to next year.)

Expected annual rental income of $60,000 is 18% of our budget. This category has a surplus of more than $15,000 to date due to some late rent from last fiscal year, prepaid rent and ad hoc rentals.

Other gifts and miscellaneous income provide 3% of our budget. These are mostly gifts made by pledgers beyond their pledge or from people who did not pledge.

Based on past years, we'd expect about $10,000 in donations for the entire year.

Currently we have a surplus of nearly $12,000, due to generous staff appreciation gifts and a couple large undesignated donations. Some adjustments have been made to the $18,000 surplus reported last month including moving $5,000 of technology grants out of operating income and a re-categorization of $5,000 to pledge income.

The Foundation distribution is 17%, which includes 9% ($29,406) for the property manager position. The Foundation funds are transferred to the UBC checking account as needed by the treasurer.

Operating Income 2021-22	%	Budget	Expected	Received	Over (short)
Pledge Income	55	$180,000	$165,000	175,381	10,381
Rental Income	18	$60,000	$55,000	70,472	15,472
Misc income*	3	$10,000	$9,167	20,994	11,827
Subtotal		$250,000	$229,167	266,846	37,680
Carry-forward from 2020-21	8	$25,355	$23,242
Foundation	17	$54,739		-
Total Operating Income	100	$330,094
Justice & Outreach		$15,000		8,963
Total Budget		$345,094

*individual gifts, loose offering & miscellaneous income

Our budget anticipates $15,000 in designated Justice & Outreach donations over the course of the year. However, we will donate only as much as is raised from monthly special offerings. Currently we have received $8,963 for all special offerings.

The dedicated offering for March/April was for peace organizations which we have received $680. The May/June offering is for LGBTQ organizations and we have received $360 to date.
